Advisory Series

The Digital Health Advisory Series is an extension of the Special Reports we have been delivering for 10+ years. Focused on topics of interest to the NHS, the series offers exclusive thought leadership and insight into the current and future challenges in specific fields.

Each Advisory is published into the relevant hub on digitalhealth.net and promoted across our channels, informing our market leading audience of key factors and developments plus forward view, future potential for improvement and alike. Suppliers can sponsor a particular topic and a Digital Health Journalist will interview the chosen company and/or client representative, and will then write a 300-400 word feature piece which is included in the Advisory. This is an opportunity for market positioning and engagement with senior/top level role holders in the NHS, such as members of our CIO/CCIO/CNIO Leadership networks and wider.

Coming up in 2019:

Interoperability – 23 January 2019
Interoperability is far from a new challenge for healthcare IT, with the inability of primary and secondary care systems to ‘talk’ to one another regularly bemoaned.

Primary care – 27 March 2019
Increased demand, greater complexity, and a workforce often not growing or evolving in line with either – primary care is under pressure.

Population health management – 26 June 2019
An expert look at one of the key potential innovations in healthcare. How are population health approaches being introduced in the NHS?

Mobile and modern working – 17 July 2019
Many of those employed in the NHS – particularly on the frontline – have become used to mobile technology not being a consistent feature of their working lives.

AI – 18 September 2019
We speak to leading NHS experts to get a sense of the realities around AI – what it can currently do, what it can’t and how we get between the two.

Clinical messaging – 20 November 2019
How can platforms be established which allow helpful communication while offering appropriate levels of security for highly sensitive data?

New models of care – 11 December 2019
We explore the role digital technology might play in developing new models of care, and look at those who are leading the way.

Previous participants include:
Special Reports

Each year we publish a number of focused Special Reports looking at the topics of most interest and importance to those in the NHS, providing an informed outlook and insight surrounding key developments / forward view. Published into the relevant Hub of digitalhealth.net and pushed to our full 50,000+ monthly users including network members, participation offers the opportunity to directly engage with those who work in the field of focus and hold a vested interest.
